

Attempting to cross the desert without sufficient water....

...is the same as embarking on a substantial action
without adequate funding.

Therium provides third party litigation funding for individuals, trustees and companies wishing to pursue substantial claims through litigation in the UK or in international arbitration. For many claimants, pursuing a claim through litigation or arbitration is prohibitively expensive. Even for those with the ability to pay, the uncertainty over the total cost, the potential for the legal costs to escalate during the litigation and the uncertainty over when the case will conclude, make the prospect of committing to fund a claim unattractive. Furthermore, there is also the risk of the claimant being ordered to pay the defendant's costs in the event that the claim fails. For some, these factors are sufficient to dissuade them from pursuing what would otherwise be a meritorious claim. It is this problem which third party funding addresses. Third party funding involves the funder agreeing to pay all of the legal and other costs associated with the case in return for a share of the proceeds.

THERIUM.

It's always difficult to launch a substantial claim....

...without adequate funding to make the case fly and ensure a safe and successful landing.

Therium provides third party litigation funding for individuals, trustees and companies wishing to pursue substantial claims through litigation in the UK or in international arbitration. For many claimants, pursuing a claim through litigation or arbitration is prohibitively expensive. Even for those with the ability to pay, the uncertainty over the total cost, the potential for the legal costs to escalate during the litigation and the uncertainty over when the case will conclude, make the prospect of committing to fund a claim unattractive.

THERIUM.

A white sailboat is shown from a side-on perspective, sailing on a yellow sea under a bright yellow sky. The boat's sails are partially visible, and its mast is prominent. The overall color scheme is monochromatic yellow, creating a warm, intense atmosphere.

If funding for your claim dries up...

...we can keep the action afloat.

Therium provides third party litigation funding for individuals, trustees and companies wishing to pursue substantial claims through litigation in the UK or in international arbitration. For many claimants, pursuing a claim through litigation or arbitration is prohibitively expensive. Even for those with the ability to pay, the uncertainty over the total cost, the potential for the legal costs to escalate during the litigation and the uncertainty over when the case will conclude, make the prospect of committing to fund a claim unattractive.

THERIUM.

If your claim reaches the end of the road due to lack of money...

...we can provide the funding you need to complete litigation.

Therium provides third party litigation funding for individuals, trustees and companies wishing to pursue substantial claims through litigation in the UK or in international arbitration. For many claimants, pursuing a claim through litigation or arbitration is prohibitively expensive. Even for those with the ability to pay, the uncertainty over the total cost, the potential for the legal costs to escalate during the litigation and the uncertainty over when the case will conclude, make the prospect of committing to fund a claim unattractive.

THERIUM.

An insolvent company is just so much dead wood...

...unless funding can turn its legal claim into a valuable asset.

Therium provides third party litigation funding for individuals, trustees and companies wishing to pursue substantial claims through litigation in the UK or in international arbitration. For many claimants, pursuing a claim through litigation or arbitration is prohibitively expensive. Even for those with the ability to pay, the uncertainty over the total cost, the potential for the legal costs to escalate during the litigation and the uncertainty over when the case will conclude, make the prospect of committing to fund a claim unattractive.

THERIUM.